Since the queen's rulership was for such a long time, it is not possible to discuss the whole period as one homogenous part. There were so many changes during the different phases of Victoria's reign that the 64 years of her rulership may be separated into 3 different periods: the first period which lasted until 1851 is a period of growth; England's manufacturing and trading forces grew more and more. In 1851 the Great Exhibition in London started the second and for this paper most important period. Now England was the leading industrial country in the world; the period of supremacy had begun. The late Victorian period covers the last quarter of the century. During this phase England lost its supremacy and the society had a more critical look on the earlier periods.<sup>1</sup> The Victorian values which were developed by the middle class were most influential during the second third of Victoria's reign. During this time the middle class grew significantly and became very important (for example through the Reform Bills which enlarged the voting population as well as through their growing wealth). Because of their new role in society middle-class opinions, behavior and values were adopted by the other classes above and below.<sup>2</sup> Therefore, it can be said that from its...
